

Dr. GHILARDI

After completing his humanistic studies, he attended the Faculty of Medicine and Surgery of the University of Modena from 1972 to 1976, with particular attention to the basic sciences and with an intense frequency of the Medical Clinic.

From 1976 he moved to the University of Milan to begin his surgical preparation at the Surgical School of the Ospedale Maggiore Policlinico, where in those years Italian surgery reached levels of absolute worldwide value.

In this extremely stimulating environment, he gradually acquired and developed skills in general surgery and vascular surgery. These skills, continually updated to new techniques and new technologies (also with stays abroad), together with the active role in research, constitute the heritage that transmits to new generations, through the teaching of General Surgery in the Master's Degree Course in Medicine and Surgery, in some Specialization Schools and in some three-year Degree Courses for Health Professions.

His research (over 180 scientific publications) is appreciated and cited by researchers all over the world for the originality and the rigor with which they are conducted.

He performed over 3000 surgeries as the first operator.
